Transconti Handlebar Bag

Handlebar bags require an adaptive, versatile attachment system that is compact, tight and secure. To solve this problem, we have devised a unique, simple, toggle-mounting system that uses shock cord to eliminate free-play in the attachments.

The canvas Transconti Handlebar Bag has rounded lower edges and is designed to hang so the top cover is inclined down away from the handlebars. The flip-open lid gives access to the main compartment, where you will find three zipped mesh pockets, perfect for small items. This Transconti bag can accommodate a big DSLR camera or several clothing layers and snacks. If you laminate your maps to A4 size they will arc nicely over whatever you have in the bag and can be consulted with a quick flip of the lid. On the surface of the top cover are side-by-side pouches for a mobile phone, eye protection or a compact camera. These are secured by touchtape flaps.

In addition to the universal retro-reflective sliver patches on three sides of all our bags, the Transconti Handlebar Bag is equipped with attachment points for a shoulder sling and shockcord bracing to a high front rack if you use one.
